Be a Cartoonist!

(or look just like one.)

Simply start with a pencil. Have an eraser handy, because everyone makes mistakes... er, mistakes.

This instruction booklet will make you wealthy beyond your wildest dreams, or maybe not, but it will teach you to draw funny pictures.

Everything you need to start tooning up is in this kit!

A plastic overlay. Use it to line up eyes, mouths and so on, so you can draw them on the characters. Use it with your Toon Tracing Booklet or other sheets of paper.

Save face, race to trace, and keep up the pace, with the Toon Tracing Booklet!

TOON TIP

For you younger kids, you may have fun just coloring the backgrounds!

Draw George Jetson™

Jetsons have no details in their ears. In a twenty minute cartoon that means a savings of 15,738 gallons of ink!

There's nothing funnier than a big nose on a toon.

Three stripes, you're in!

Rubber hose-shaped legs

Bean-shaped body

George's Expressions

Dazed

Sneaky

Fired Again?!

In my office,
Jetson....now!

Happy

Irritable

Now draw your favorite expressions:

TOON
TIP

The easy way: Use your plastic overlay for ideas.
Copy George's nose, mouth, and eyes onto his head.
Give him different expressions.

Draw George's Gourd

Meet George Jetson.

Now you grab your paper and do it!

Start in this space to draw George's face.

Are we there yet?

Divide, Clyde.

Feature presentation.

Draw all of George

Tall order:
George is 3 heads up!

TOON
TIP

Don't sweat it if it's too tough.
Just color the background.

Jane, I'm Home!

Doodle...,

2

needle,

3

The whole
Ka-boodle.

TOON
TIP

Always try to have a sketch pad handy because you never know when your next great idea will come.

His boy, Elroy

Oh, boy...
Elroy

Your toon, Elroy!

Start with a planet.

Put some roads on the planet.

Keep pushing that pencil.

Now add details.

Help Elroy get in touch with his Feelings

C

Match these faces with the word that describes Elroy's expression: ☐ Happy ☐ Nasty ☐ Grounded?!

Now draw your favorite expressions!

TOON
TIP

Doodle daily!

This Boy Elroy

Begin your grid
to draw the kid.

You won't fail if you add detail.

In the end,
your futuristic friend... Elroy!

Name Game

TOON
TIP

Exaggeration is absolutely, positively the most important part of cartooning!

DIRECTIONS: Creating cartoon characters is a blast, and it's easy too, using this book and your plastic overlay!

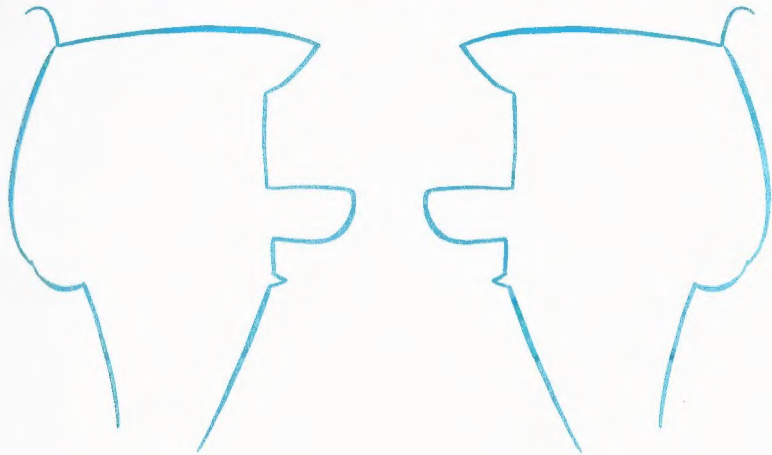

1. Place the plastic overlay on a cartoon you want to finish.
2. Choose features from the overlay. Flip overlay to face features in the right direction.
3. Place the overlay under the page and trace what you see through the paper.
4. Use the overlay to draw characters on your own.

"Where's My Face?!" Create some wild space-age expressions for Elroy, using your overlay and your imagination.

"Where's My Mouth?!" Use your overlay to give George his mouth back! Then create some out-of-this-world expressions on his face.

No Rules, Just Fun! Cartooning is creative! Start with your overlay and cartooning book for ideas. Then check out magazines, comic books, newspapers – even cereal boxes – for cool things to trace. Draw George and Elroy...or...dream up your own characters!
